WOMBLE BOND DICKINSON FOUNDATION

Guidelines

The Womble Bond Dickinson Foundation (also known as the Womble Bond Dickinson (UK) Charitable Incorporated Organisation) charity number 1172569, was established by Womble Bond Dickinson (UK) LLP in April 2017 as an independent charity, to support the structure and administration of the firm's charitable giving.

The charitable objects of the Womble Bond Dickinson Foundation are broad, enabling its trustees to identify particular areas of priority to support, and to adapt to changing need over time. The current areas of focus of the Womble Bond Dickinson Foundation are:

- To unlock potential and make a positive difference, particularly in the communities in which the partners and employees of Womble Bond Dickinson (UK) LLP live and work. Charitable donations are focused on improving social inclusion, making a positive impact on individuals, especially from disadvantaged and diverse backgrounds.
- To provide help in response to international emergencies, recognising the responsibility we have as world citizens.
- To positively impact the environment as we move towards a just transition to Net Zero.

As of 2025, the Foundation is launching a new grant giving scheme to support charities whose purpose falls under key themes within the above broader areas of focus.

These themes will change from time to time. Currently the Womble Bond Dickinson Foundation is focusing on charities making a positive impact under one of more of the following themes:

- Climate action and environmental protection
- LGBTQ+ inclusion
- Supporting inclusion of individuals from ethnic minority backgrounds
- Increasing women's opportunities in life and work
- Disability and neurodiversity inclusion
- Mental health and wellbeing support

These themes align to Womble Bond Dickinson's commitment to leading the way on responsible business.

We accept applications from registered charities in England and Wales, although we will generally prioritise charities with projects operating within our local communities, operating near one of our English offices.
